Vinyl rail post template

A simple, easy to use tool that allows the installer the flexibility of routing posts on site for step installations and other custom work.

Carefully locate the placement of the rail and mark. When you place the template, be sure to allow for the setback between the collar and bit.

The collar will ride on the inside edge of the template to cut an exact hole.

After the template is aligned correctly, clamp it in place. It is best to measure twice and cut once.

Start in the center of the template opening with the tool on an angle as shown.

Be sure to use appropriate eye protection!

With the machine turned on, slowly tilt the bit into the post to begin the cut.

As the bit cuts – work the machine to the side of the hole. Notice that the base is flush against the template. Continue to move the machine around the edge of the template to complete cut.

For the template to cut the correct size holes you will need a Porter Cable model 690 or 890 router with a 42033 collar (aka—template guide or collette) and a 3/16 vinyl cutting bit. Most tool 'Warehouses' will have these items.
